Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file is deemed objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes under s3(2)(a) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 (FVPC Act). It depicts a girl who appears to be in her mid-teens performing a sexual act. This classification interferes with the right to freedom of expression provided by the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this classification is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications falling under s3(2) of the FVPC Act be deemed objectionable. This is a reasonable limitation on the right to freedom of expression that reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to protect its vulnerable members from exploitation.
